“We were inspired by the history of family and a love of collecting,” says Mitchell. “We filled the room with things we love.” Among them? Several collections—including paperweights, blue-and-white Chinese pottery, and hip flasks—board games, art, and, on preview day, Mitchell’s two dogs, Jacob and Wylo. The pups are the subject of a children’s book Mitchell created with Mark Narsansky about the Kips Bay show house, which they are selling to raise funds for the Kips Bay Boys & Girls Club.
