

ABOUT

CATEGORIES

HOME TOURS

NYC GUIDE

CONTACT

PRESS

3 june 2015 | home and design nyc nyc guide

KIPS BAY DECORATOR SHOW HOUSE 2015: PART I

Ok, so here's part of the amazing, multi-story winding staircase gallery wall, by Phillip Mitchell Design. First of all, the staircase itself is obviously an amazing focal point. Then the designer filled it with a gallery wall winding all the way up and down two flights, using every mix of art and framing that you can imagine. He used pieces old and new, big and small, photography, paintings, different frames, three-dimensional objects, brackets with vases and other items on them – it just went on and on. Every piece and every frame was honestly amazing and the mix of everything was together was just out of control.

AdChoice

STYLE YOUR DAD
from bad to rad
Buy one, get one free*

* Exclusion

SHOP NOW

LET'S KEEP IN TOUCH

PINTEREST INSTAGRAM

TWITTER GOODREADS

NEVER MISS A POST

BLOGLOVIN' FEEDLY

SUBSCRIBE VIA EMAIL

Another amazing thing about the staircase is the beautiful toile grisaille wallpaper that Phillip Mitchell chose to use as a backdrop to all of the eclectic art – it's just perfect, because it's lovely on it's own, but it's neutral enough to fade into the background and not compete with the art. Anyone else (i.e., me), would just do white on a gallery wall like this, but of course a talented designer is able to make a much more elegant and interesting choice!

Absolutely love that he mixed three-dimensional objects in. Also, a close-up of the wallpaper...just gorgeous.

Part II is coming up tomorrow...so much more to share!

Kips Bay Decorator Show House 2015

58 East 66th Street (between Park and Madison)

Open Monday-Saturday 11AM-5PM, Tuesdays and Thursdays until 8PM, through June 11

photos by me

0 COMMENTS / LEAVE YOURS

SHARE:

FILED IN: HOME AND DESIGN, NYC, NYC GUIDE

YOU'LL ALSO LOVE THESE POSTS:

