

Philip Mitchell of Philip Mitchell Designs, Inc. of Toronto, Canada. Using 260 works of art largely from his personal collection, Philip debuted at Kips Bay with a bang. A salon-style installation of art is such a challenge on one wall let alone a spiral axis spanning four stories.

Photo by Rafael Quirindongo

Touring the offices and mills of the Mulberry Home fabric line, Philip glimpsed a soon-to-be-released toile that became the underpinning of his design. Convincing Anne Grafton, the Creative Director of Mulberry Home, that it should be a wallpaper, Philip got his Torridon Wallcovering in time for his Kips Bay debut. Interestingly, the subtle toile in a monochromatic grey proved no competition for the art display.

Another fabulous debut was at the hands of designer Peter J. Sinnott IV of Home Works. Peter installed a stunning AKDO floor tile, part of AKDO's new Origami collection. With 12 tiles comprising a 6-sided cube, the floor looked like an MC Escher drawing.